

OPEN LETTER

Brasilia, February 27, 2015.

INDIGENOUS PEOPLES, TRADITIONAL PEOPLES AND TRADITIONAL COMMUNITIES AND FAMILY FARMERS REPUDIATE LAW PROJECT THAT SELLS AND DESTROYS NATIONAL BIODIVERSITY

Indigenous Peoples, Traditional Peoples, Traditional Communities and Family Farmers in Brazil, represented by their entities and partner organizations below signed, come herein to expose their positioning on Law Project N. 7.735 /2014 (current PLC N. 02/2015, Brazilian legislative reference), which seeks to regulate the access and economic exploitation of biodiversity and agro-biodiversity as well as the associated traditional knowledge to genetic resources in this country.

First, we record that the Peoples and Communities mentioned above are fully aware of the context in which the Law Project N.7735/2014 was sent to the National Congress appraisal, that is, the current offensive verified in Brazil against their fundamental rights, as guaranteed in the Federal Constitution, by ordinary legislation and international treaties ratified by this country. This Law Project was submitted to the National Congress by the Federal Government as a matter of urgency. In this scenario of threat to the very existence of Indigenous and Tribal Peoples and Traditional Communities, the encompassing society and the Federal Government should be advised that Peoples and Communities' representative bodies are united and mobilized, determined to fight in defense of their historically acquired rights. These rights are also part of national sovereignty and constitutional democracy in the country.

Particularly, in what concerns the Law Project N. 7735 /2014, which intends to cancel and restrict our rights, we repudiate the deliberate decision of the Executive to exclude us of its preparation. There was not any debate or consultation on the matter, in violation of The International Labor Organization (ILO) Convention N.169, The Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD), The International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture/Food and Agriculture Organization (ITPGRFA) and the Brazilian Federal Constitution. Therefore, we denounce this Law Project as an instrument that broadly benefits the pharmaceutical, the cosmetic and the agribusiness sectors (mainly seeds) to the extent of threatening biodiversity and associated traditional knowledge to genetic resources. The Law Project also jeopardized structural policy programmes on course to promote food security and food sovereignty as it is the example of the National Food Acquisition Programme (PAA, Brazilian acronym) and the National School Feeding Programme (PNAE, Brazilian acronym). We also believe such Law Project brings roles to the legislation to a point of creating a possibility for bio-piracy to be legal.

This threatening scenario, recognized as such by the Government itself, provoked a serious imbalance in the content of the Law Project in question. Besides giving amnesty to historical violations related to irregularities in the access to traditional knowledge and genetic resources and excluding any possibility of public overseeing of economic activities involving the matter, the Law Project N. 7735 /2014 violates rights already guaranteed by the Brazilian legislation, which can be clearly noticed along the following aspects:

(1) In relation to access to genetic patrimony and traditional knowledge:

- a) Prevents Peoples' and Traditional Communities' veto in Free, Prior, Informed Consent (hereafter FPIC) processes;
- b) Flexibilizes what constitutes a proof of FPIC to the detriment of the protection of collective knowledge;
- c) Waives the request of FPIC to have access to genetic patrimony and associated traditional knowledge to genetic resources related to food and agriculture; and
- d) Allows national and international companies to access and explore Brazilian genetic patrimony and associated traditional knowledge resources without any control or supervision, permitting, for example, the access of foreign corporations to seed banks.

(2) In terms of benefit sharing:

- a) Provides that only finished products will be subject to allocation of benefits and benefit sharing, excluding intermediate products;
- b) Restricts benefit sharing to cases in which the genetic patrimony or traditional knowledge is qualified as the main element in adding value to the product;
- c) Exempts of benefit sharing (royalty free) innumerable cases of accessing performed previously to the year 2000, and maintains economic holdings until today;

- d) Determines that benefit sharing should be applied just to products featured on a List of Classification to be drawn up collectively by six Ministries;
- e) Establish a limit, instead of a basis (minimum value), for the value to be paid in respect of benefit sharing;
- f) Leaves to the sole discretion of national and international corporations the method they will use for benefit sharing in cases of access to genetic patrimony or associated traditional knowledge for genetic resources that do not have an identifiable origin;
- g) Exempts micro-enterprises, small businesses and micro-entrepreneurs of benefit sharing; and
- h) Excludes from benefit sharing economic exploitation of the genetic patrimony and the associated traditional knowledge to genetic resources related to food and agriculture.

(3) Concerning definitions:

- a) Replaces the term "peoples" by "population" in dealing with Indigenous Peoples;
- b) Replaces the term "family farmer" by "traditional farmers", in affront to Law 11.326 / 2006;
- c) Declassify the definition of "landrace seeds" as featured in Law N 10.711/ 2003;
- d) Leaves the obligation of prior attesting the regularity of access under a participatory process as according to the conditions negotiated with the affected group at the very beginning of the economic activities; and
- e) Finally, adopts concepts in absentia of holders of traditional knowledge.

In view of the foregoing, Indigenous Peoples, Tribal Peoples, Traditional Communities and Family Farmers in Brazil require the involvement of the Federal Government, with the reversal of the denounced above scenario by the correction of serious mistakes contained in the Law Project N.7735 /2014 in order to ensure the respect for and the enforcement of their constitutionally guaranteed legal rights.

We declare that we will no longer tolerate the undemocratic attitude of the Federal Government as well as its political commitment with business interests toward the expropriation of Brazilian biodiversity, agro-biodiversity and associated traditional knowledge to genetic resources.

We finally reaffirm our determination to continue united, mobilized and prepared to remain in constant struggle in defense of justice and of our rights.
